Miss Maire Harter, of Milan, O., who was the guest of the Misses Willenborg during the holidays, has returned to Wooster university.

Otto Sohnwald, a young man heretofore unable to speak above a whisper, underwent an operation, Saturday, which totally removed the defect.

The meeting of the Equal Rights Association, previously announced for the second Tuesday in January, will be held the second Friday in January.

An elated gentleman is Wilbur Ogden, the justification being the advent of a son to his home. The male heir is the first of that gender in six births.

One of the members of the combination which will appear at Bucher's to-night, is Edward Oberly, formerly of Canton, who takes a German comedian part.

Frederick Haag, now of Arkansas, about ten years ago a resident of Massillon, writes that cotton picking, delayed by wet weather, is now in progress in that state.

The U. D. C. club meets this evening at the residence of Mrs. Noble. Topic: "Contests of Rome and Carthage between the first and second Punic wars, 240 to 219 B. C."

The Alliance Leader in a recent article credits the Rev. E. J. Vattman with a residence in Canal Dover. The Leader is mistaken, the Rev. Mr. Vattman lives in Canal Fulton.

The public schools were reopened this morning. At the West Tremont street building a new steam heating apparatus was put in, but owing to some defects, school had to be dismissed.

Captain Clutz thought this morning that the council ought to get together to-night to settle upon a location for the new city hall, and to decide about redistricting the town into six wards.

Sam Brown, who has held the position of night yardmaster at the W. & L. E. station for some time, has been relieved from duty and has been succeeded by John Moylan, an old employe of the road.

Miss Ray Broome, who has been visiting Miss Mattie Edwards, in South East street, for the past few weeks, returned to her home in Newark, O., yesterday, accompanied by her father, D. F. Broome.

Mrs. Isaac Barlow and daughter, Lena, who have been visiting at the residence of Mr. C. E. Wainwright since September, have started back to their home in Cheshire, England. They will sail on the "Adriatic."

Dwight Hickox, of P. Gribble's stables, carries one arm in a sling, the result of a vicious kick from an Akron horse, which sent him flying. Falling upon his extended arm, he broke a small bone.

John Fries, an old Massillonian, but now a resident of Norwalk, O., arrived in town Saturday to spend a few days with old friends. His son, Frank Fries, a student at Buchtel college, also spent Sunday here.

Owing to the change in the cables, the town clock has not recently held to its perfect gait. A change of five minutes was made to-day, and the public chronometer again registers the hour to the point of absolute verity.

Jacob Killinger, a well known Jackson township farmer, died this morning, and will be buried Thursday at 10 a. m. from the residence. He was 78 years of age, and leaves four children. He had lived in Jackson township over half a century.

Mr. W. K. Atwater, now engaged in business in Washington, has sensibly concluded that Massillon is a good enough place of residence, and will retain his local citizenship, with the expectation of returning to visit and to vote.

Martin Nye, the unfortunate man whose back was broken a few weeks ago, is destined to be disabled all his days. The mere fact of saving his life is, however, very unusual. His body will be encased in a plaster cast, and he will be removed the county infirmary, on Thursday.

Percy McLain entertained a small progressive euchre party Saturday evening, about twenty being present. The first prizes were won by Miss Clara and Prescott Burton, and the second by Harry Pocock and Miss Eva Albrecht. Miss Gertrude Steese, of Brookline, Mass., was the only out of town guest.

Z. T. Shoemaker and family returned from their trip to Wheeling, Bellaire and Barnesville Saturday night, being compelled to walk and get across streams in skiffs at several places where the track and bridges were washed away by the floods which prevailed in the southern part of the state last week.

The trains to-day carried away a number of young people to the schools and colleges. Miss Blanche McCue left for Boston, and Miss Alice Burton for New York. Miss Eva Albrecht, accompanied part way by her parents, left for Philadelphia. Miss Clara Burton will go to-morrow. Walter McLain started for Orchard Lake, Mich., and Harry McLain and Melville Everhard for Cleveland.

THE INDIANS UPRISING.

Special Dispatch to The Independent.

OMAHA, Jan. 5.—Great excitement prevails here. The Sixth Iowa regiment has been ordered under arms and it is believed that one of the worst Indian battles in history is at hand. Efforts are being made to get all the whites out of the territory. The Indians are burning and plundering on White river. It is feared that the troops at Pine Ridge are not sufficient, and that they will be annihilated. Hundreds of volunteers are organizing here to start to-night.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—A dispatch from St. Paul says Gen. Miles was killed in an Indian battle. Unconfirmed authorities regard the situation as critical.

OMAHA, Neb., January 5.—John G. Boyle, clerk of the Yakama agency, Oregon, telegraphs that one thousand wild Indians have run off to dance.

Emma Abbott Dead.

Special Dispatch to The Independent.

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 5. Emma Abbott, the opera singer, died at 7:40 this morning of pneumonia.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

The Board of Trade will meet this evening in the mayor's court room to elect officers for the ensuing ear.

M'QUEARY'S FAREWELL.

THE STARTLING LAST WORDS OF THE YOUNG CANTON RECTOR.

He Promises to Deliver at Least One Sermon More in Canton—The Agricultural Society Elects Directors—Some of the Pet Stock Prizes.

CANTON, O., Jan. 5.—The Rev. Howard MacQueary, the Episcopalian preacher, accused of heresy, delivered his last words before his trial, in the weather beaten little church of St. Paul Sunday morning. Popularity has certainly not attended Mr. MacQueary, and in the dreary waste of empty pews THE INDEPENDENT'S correspondent counted just 58 persons, a few others straggling in when the services had commenced. "As I do not know," said Mr. MacQueary in his sermon, "what my ecclesiastical status may be one week hence, I cannot announce services for next Sunday. I shall certainly deliver at least one more sermon in Canton, but whether in this building or some other remains to be seen. As this may be my last service as rector of this parish it would be appropriate to deliver a farewell sermon, but I will only make a few remarks for many reasons. I should have to state in a sermon certain facts in vindication of known criticisms of my personal character and my theological opinions, and this I do not care to do.

"Whether any or all persons such as were added to the communicant list during my pastorate were made earnest Christians, through my instrumentality, I am unable to say. I confess I doubt it. I am not sure that I have helped a single soul to a higher and a holier life, and the thought is more painful than I dare tell you, for no preaching, however profound or eloquent, is truly successful unless it improves the moral and spiritual character of men.

"The vestry has done, if not all it might have done, at least as well as vestries generally do. The other and darker side of the picture I purposely turn down and pass on.

"It only remains for me to thank my few friends here for all they have done when I was passing through the severest mental and spiritual ordeal through which a man was ever called to pass. You gave me your sympathy and appreciation when others supposed that I was aiming, by erratic expressions, to create a sensation. You believed I was influenced by love of truth and sense of duty. When adversity, misfortune, sickness, and the dishonesty of others financially embarrassed me, and still others attacked my moral character, and in such a way that I could not defend myself, you bravely defended me and substantially helped me, and in all my trials and tribulations you have been an inspiration and a support to me. May God bless you for it, as I do, and prove worthy of such friendship, and, at last, may we meet in that paradise of God, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. Amen."

The strained and diseased voice of the rector quavered, grew feeble and broke, as he touched upon the sorrows that surrounded him, and pronouncing with averted eyes the word "amen," he hastily turned and knelt at the altar. In the oppressive silence that then prevailed, emotion could be seen welling up in tears, in the eyes of his few friends, and soon the sobbing of some and the glance of disapprobation from others, made the situation extremely painful.

After the services many waited to greet the young preacher, who is to be tried Wednesday morning. Mr. MacQueary's friends claim that his virtual failure to substantially enlarge the church membership is not due to his peculiar views, although the anti-MacQueary party would make it so appear, but is entirely due to other local causes, which have embarrassed former rectors.

THE PET STOCK SHOW.

The poultry and dog show, held in the Tabernacle last week, closed Saturday night. Among the prizes for dogs the following were taken by residents of Massillon: St. Bernards, J. H. Hunt, Don, first prize. H. W. Loeffler was awarded the following: First on pointer dogs, Don Croxteth, on pointers, Mollie Scott, H. C.; on Birdie Pope, V. H. C.; on pointer puppies, 2nd, and Bob White, V. H. C; on English setter dogs, Dick McBeth, V. H. C.. on English setters, Alice McBeth. V. H. C.; on spaniels, Bessie Ober, 1st. In the specials donated J. H. Hunt was awarded prizes for the best dog in the show, any breed, for the best dog in the show, and for the best St. Bernard, the prizes being, respectively, handsome dog collar, the second not reported, and for the St. Bernard, $10 in gold.

The judging of poultry was concluded Saturday night. H. Berrar, of this city, was awarded the following: On white crested black Polish cock, 1st; cockerels, est, 2nd, 3d; hens, 1st, 2d, 3d; pullets, 1st, 2nd; breeding pen, 1st; on bearded silver Polish cock, 1st, 2nd, cockerels, 1st, 2nd; pullets, 1st, 2nd, 3d, breeding pen, 1st, on golden wyandott cock, 1st: cockerel, 1st; hen, 1st; breeding pen, 1st; and special for highest scoring birds in the show, and special for best pair, and special for best display in Polish class, and all other specials offered in Polish class.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Stark County Agricultural Society at its meeting, Saturday, elected the following directors: Canton township, J. Bowman; Paris, J. J. Snyder; Nimishillen, Jacob Kagey; Lexington, Ellis Hazen; Sugar Creek, A. L. Stambaugh; Tuscarawas, W. D. Oberlin; Lawrence, J. P. Lawrence; Sandy, H. C. Elson; city of Massillon, Charles Archer; city of Alliance, Jesse Teeters. There is some talk of the society purchasing new grounds for holding fairs, but nothing definite has been decided upon, although one director admitted that the board considered larger grounds necessary.

IN FAVOR OF A TWO CENT FARE.

The Farmers' Alliance at its meeting, Saturday, declared in favor of a two cent fare bill; reduction of the salaries of county officials, and the abolition of the fee system; the furnishing of school books by the state and keeping of county offices in the court house open eight hours daily.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

The Board of Trade will meet this evening in the mayor's court room to elect officers for the ensuing year.

A Canton hotel manager regularly serves wine at dinner. Singular though it may seem, no protest has been raised.

Incidentally THE INDEPENDENT rises to repeat that Russell & Co. will make 1,000 threshing machines this year, instead of 900, as last.

The tendency of the times is, unmistakably in the direction of smaller newspapers and condensed forms of presenting the day's intelligence.

Providence does not seem to be with the Ohio state senate. A number of the original Democratic members have died—more than ever before in the same length of time.

The board of trade will elect officers to-night. Upon the officers chosen will depend the effectiveness of the board. This meeting, more than any other, demands the presence of each individual member.

The Akron Beacon and Republican has appeared. The charges against Postmaster Gamble have been withdrawn. Akron Republicans are acting as a unit. The town is growing, and once again all is well. What so glorious as harmony with a big H?

Senator Sherman is quoted in the Washington Post as follows: "Any statement which makes me figure as a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in Ohio is made without my knowledge, authorization or consent. I do not want to governor of Ohio and there are younger men who are able to fill the chair with credit to the state and to themselves. I think it is pretty well understood, in Ohio that Mr. McKinley will be the nominee."

"That boom of Senator Sherman is but an invention of the enemy," said Judge E. B. Taylor, in talking about Ohio affairs. And so it was. The Democratic party is not a novice at attempting to array Republicans against themselves. This year we all insist upon being harmonious, just as were in that month of blessed memory, November, 1890, when Major McKinley swept the counties of the Sixteenth district, and Daniel J. Ryan re-captured Ohio.

The farewell sermon, delivered by the Rev. Howard MacQueary, of Canton, is somewhat remarkable. If Mr. MacQueary's views are good in theory they ought to be good in practice. The primary object of sustaining the ministry is to convert men. Mr. MacQueary says:

"Whether any or all such as were added to the communicant list were made earnest Christians, through my instrumentality, I am unable to say. I confess I doubt it. I am not sure that I have helped a single soul to a higher and a better life."

The admission is too serious to be treated lightly. Mr. MacQueary's intelligence and more than that, cannot be disputed. The acknowledgement that his work is a failure, though this is pronounced premature by his friends, is sad to

BRIGHT WOMEN THESE.

SKETCHES AND PORTRAITS OF SOME DAUGHTERS OF THE SOUTH.

They Have Taken Up Journalism For a Profession, and Are Working Away For Dear Life in the Big City of New York.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—There are many women who frequent the salons and press clubs and who are seen at all gatherings of the world of letters, who are popularly supposed to do journalistic or literary work, the whereabouts of which is most vague and indefinite. But many of the working journalists and writers of New York are women, earnest, conscientious laborers. I have here set down some facts about some of these bright women who are from the south.

MARY E. BRYAN.

Mrs. Mary E. Bryan has the distinction of being the best paid woman editor in New York, her salary being $10,000 a year. She is under contract to Mr. George Munro to give him two serials annually, besides furnishing a short story to every number of his Fashion Bazar. In addition she prepares short sketches and writes all the answers to correspondents. She is also a most clever versifier, and can dash off poems, rhymes and skits at any notice. Mrs. Bryan is chairman of literature in Sorosis and vice president of the Woman's Press club.

She has a cozy flat in Sixty-first street distinguished for two things—the collection of photographs of beautiful southern women and her "rebel corner." In one corner of her drawing room, on an easel, stand pictures of Jefferson Davis, who was as a father to Mrs. Bryan, and Henry Grady, who was one of her dearest friends. These pictures are draped with wreaths of laurel and gray southern moss. However, Mrs. Bryan's corner only symbolizes loyalty to her dead friends, not disloyalty to her country.

Mrs. Bryan did her first literary work on a small Louisiana paper during reconstruction times. She was next editor-in-chief, fashion writer, foreign correspondent, poet and novelist for The Sunny South. She kept two serials running, and often while writing a chapter, for which the compositors were waiting, was likely to be interrupted by a demand for an editorial on "cotton." The brave little woman pegged along for ten years in this drudgery; then her reward came in Munro's tempting offer.

In appearance Mrs. Bryan is small, with eyes as black as sloes, which twinkle with fun or grow moist with sympathy, as the lady's mood may be. Her hair is dark, and she possesses a fascinating smile and the soft, liquid accent of the south. She is most amiable and sympathetic, and many a woman writer thanks Mary Bryan for an extended hand of aid and encouragement.

A few years ago a series of sketches appeared in The New York Star which at once attracted attention by their pure Saxon, their picturesque descriptions, their delicious impudence and clever audacity. I don't suppose there was a woman in town who was not delighted with "Bab's Babblings," so thoroughly characteristic were they of woman's tastes and inclinations. "Bab's" identity was for some time kept a profound secret, but now all the world knows that the Sphinx of the New York press is a pretty, stylish, brilliant young woman—Mrs. Isabel Mallon.

Mrs. Mallon was a Baltimore girl, and when very young contracted a most romantic marriage with an Irish gentleman. After his death she found it necessary to set to work, and "took her pen in hand" with what signal success we all know. Men admire Bab awfully, and women are devoted to her. Bab was a rebel, and I do not believe she is yet reconstructed. She is fond of the Confederate colors, but especially is she devoted to red. Being born of Quaker parentage, she says that the yearning for red is like the hankering for forbidden fruit, and Bab, in a scarlet bonnet and red facings to her stylish coat, is a charming sight.

Bab's hair is blonde, of that peculiar shade you see upon children's heads. It

In appearance Mrs. Bryan is small, with eyes as black as sloes, which twinkle with fun or grow moist with sympathy, as the lady's mood may be. Her hair is dark, and she possesses a fascinating smile and the soft, liquid accent of the south. She is most amiable and sympathetic, and many a woman writer thanks Mary Bryan for an extended hand of aid and encouragement.

A few years ago a series of sketches appeared in The New York Star which at once attracted attention by their pure Saxon, their picturesque descriptions, their delicious impudence and clever audacity. I don't suppose there was a woman in town who was not delighted with "Bab's Babblings," so thoroughly characteristic were they of woman's tastes and inclinations. "Bab's" identity was for some time kept a profound secret, but now all the world knows that the Sphinx of the New York press is a pretty, stylish, brilliant young woman—Mrs. Isabel Mallon.

Mrs. Mallon was a Baltimore girl, and when very young contracted a most romantic marriage with an Irish gentleman. After his death she found it necessary to set to work, and "took her pen in hand" with what signal success we all know. Men admire Bab awfully, and women are devoted to her. Bab was a rebel, and I do not believe she is yet reconstructed. She is fond of the Confederate colors, but especially is she devoted to red. Being born of Quaker parentage, she says that the yearning for red is like the hankering for forbidden fruit, and Bab, in a scarlet bonnet and red facings to her stylish coat, is a charming sight.

Bab's hair is blonde, of that peculiar shade you see upon children's heads. It up. Her eyes are brown, bright and responsive. She speaks like an Englishwoman, though now and then you catch a slight southern accent. Bab is very fond of dogs, and her fox terrier, Chum, is a most pampered little beast. Bab's big room, in which she receives her friends, is a fascinating jumble of artistic and womanly effects. Some time ago she accepted the position of fashion editor of The Ladies' Home Journal, and she is one of the busiest writers in New York.

Miss Mattie Sheridan is by all odds the best society writer in New York. She has a personal acquaintance with and the entree to the houses of three-quarters of the Four Hundred. She claims the proud distinction of never having had a MS. rejected. Many bright articles from her pen have appeared under the nom de plumes of "Little Miss Muffet" and "R. S. V. P." She thinks it a great mistake for writers to use an assumed name. "If I had only signed my name to the reams and reams of stuff I have written I should be quite famous," she said not long since.

She is the youngest member of the New York journalistic guild, being 21 on her last birthday. Miss Sheridan is a Kentucky girl, having been born and educated in Louisville. Her first literary work was done for Hearth and Home when she was 14. Then brilliant letters from summer resorts to The Chicago Tribune followed. Her first New York work was done for The Graphic, with which paper she was connected for five years. She is now under contract to Munsey's Weekly, and will receive $8,000 for two years' services.

Miss Sheridan is an orphan, but she is by no means alone in the world, for she has, I suppose, more friends than any other newspaper woman in New York. She is very blonde, with an exquisite complexion, great hazel eyes and a shower of the most wonderful curls, yellow as ripe wheat.

The pretty name Viola Roseboro is often seen in The Century and other magazines, and one thinks it should belong to a pretty woman, and so it does. Many people are asking, "Who is Viola Roseboro?"

She is the daughter of a Cumberland Presbyterian minister, and was born in Pulaski, Tenn. She is a niece of Col. A. S. Collier, a well known lawyer of Nashville, and a cousin of ex Governor Marks, of Tennessee. This ambitious young lady went upon the stage, and was with Kate Claxton for three years, but becoming dissatisfied with the life abandoned it for literature. Her first work was for The Graphic, and her articles were marked by simplicity and grace. In the centennial number of The Century appeared a pathetic story, "A Jest of Fate," which elicited commendation from such men as T. W. Higginson and Brander Matthews.

Miss Roseboro is not a dialectic writer, but depicts scenes of southern life with great delicacy of touch and beautiful simplicity. One of the best is "The Last Marchbanks," which was also published in The Century. Miss Roseboro, as can readily be seen from the accompanying cut, is a very pretty woman. Her eyes are dark gray, her eyebrows almost meet, and she has a veritable Cupid's bow of a mouth. Miss Roseboro lives with Helen Ainsley Smith.

One of the most beautiful southern women who have made a distinct and unquestioned success in New York journalism is Miss Elizabeth Bisland, who made the tour around the world in competition.

Miss Bisland comes from an intellectual New Orleans family. The family met with reverses through the war, and Miss Bisland went upon the staff of The New Orleans Times-Democrat. Four years ago she came to New York and plunged into journalism. Miss Bisland would not do night work, lived quietly and waited for her hour, which came when The Cosmopolitan Magazine sent her abroad. She is a graceful and statuesque brunette, and is considered a remarkably handsome woman. It is understood that she will pass much of her time in London in the future. Her services belong exclusively to The Cosmopolitan. Her sister, Margaret Bisland, is doing good work for The Illustrated American. The Woman's club, of New Orleans, was founded by Miss Bisland, and has grown from a modest beginning to a powerful organization numbering 300 persons.

Emma Moffett Tyng is a well known contributor to Harper's Bazar, Art Interchange and The Housewife. She is the wife of Thomas Tyng, son of Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, of St. George's church. Mrs. Tyng is the author of a romance of Mexico of Maximilian's time, entitled "Crown Jewels," which is shortly to be reprinted. Mrs. Tyng is exceedingly felicitous in her work upon art topics and interior decorations.

She is the daintiest, most womanly little lady imaginable, with soft brown hair, pleasant, beaming eyes, and also possessing that sweet southern accent of speech. She is very popular in the Woman's Press club, and will undoubtedly be its next president.

If space permitted I could name a half dozen other southern women who, though not so well known as those whom I have described, are yet doing good and telling work in journalism and literature in New York.

EMMA SESSIONS TUPPER.

SPIRIT OF THE TURF.

Tom Loates heads the list of winning jockeys in England for 1890. He captured 149 races out of 661 in which he took part.

Mary M., the dam of McEwan, 2:18¼; Annie W., 2:20; Andante, 2:20¾, and also of the dam of Tosa, 2:23, died recently at the Ewell farm in Tennessee.

Chester C., a grandson of Blue Bull that is said to have trotted a mile in 2:22½ as a three-year-old in 1889, died at Fort Wayne, Ind., the other day.

Rarus was the last trotter that James D. McMann handled, and it was from the old man that Splan got the horse with which he afterward beat the trotting record.

Great Eastern, 2:23¼, will, it is supposed, be in John Turner's stable next season, as he has been purchased by the Sires, who patronize Turner when they want any training done.

The members and officers of the Kentucky Running Association have decided to have a twelve-days' meet next spring, at Lexington, with purses averaging $500.

The old trotter Don, a gray gelding to whom George Fuller gave a record of 2:22½ a good many years ago, is being driven on the road in Chicago by Cal Wagner, who attained fame as a minstrel.

Charley Dickerman, who has spent most of his time in Europe during the past five years driving the trotters owned by a Cuban who lives in Paris, is in New York, and will stay in this country for awhile.

Mr. August Belmont left among his papers a memorandum of how he intended breeding forty-three of the mares at his Kentucky farm, and his plans in the matter will be carried out by the executor of the estate.

The two-year-old colt Re-election, by Electioneer, dam a sister to Maud S., will be trained next season, and his career will be watched with interest by horsemen. He is about as royally bred as any thing that ever wore harness.

James Goldsmith is still suffering from the sickness that came upon him during the Lexington meeting, and is confined to his room. He expects to be about in a few weeks and to train horses as usual next season, but it is doubtful if he does, as there is no harder work in the world than reefing a string of trotters.

The owner of the brother to Sunol, that has heretofore been known as Lord Wellington, has very sensibly concluded to change the horse's name to General Wellington, there being a Lord Wellington that is already the sire of 2:30 speed. Sunol, by the way, is reported to be taking "winter jogging" at Palo Alto.

The track at Baltimore, Md., until the present year used exclusively for runners, will not in the future resound to their hoof-beats. The Maryland Jockey Club went up the spout last summer for lack of patronage, and now some trotting-horse men have gotten control of the track and will give a meeting there. The trotter is pulling the runner off the ladder pretty often of late.

Raceland was the first of the late August Belmont's horses to be sold at auction. Michael Dwyer secured him at $7,000. Prince Royal was the next put up, and at $5,000 was knocked down to Philip Dwyer; St. Carlo sold for $1,600 to William H. Jennings; Magnate for $3,500 to Fred Eshner, of the Keystone stable, and Potomac for $35,000 to Michael F. Dwyer.

A match for $500 a side, half forfeit, the balance to be put up ten days before the race, has been made between the stallions Virginius, record 2:28¼, by Phallamont, and Scotsman, record, 2:35¼, by Milo. The match is the outcome of a difference of opinion between the owners of the horses regarding the merits of the animals, and has been accepted by the Northwestern Association of Trotting-Horse Breeders as a part of the programme of its meeting to be held in Chicago next August. Both horses are four-year-olds.

THE BIG-FISTED FELLOWS.

John L. Sullivan is now laying by $1,000 a week out of his earnings, which amount to $2,500 a week.

In New York, Alex Gallagher and Paddy McGuigon fought twenty rounds, when the fight was declared a draw.

At Omaha, Neb., Jack Davis, a local heavy-weight, knocked out Pat Allen, of St. Louis, in three rounds for $500 a side.

Joe David and Jim Mullens, light-weights, fought in New York for a purse. Mullens was knocked out in three rounds.

Jem Carney, the English light-weight, says that if Jack McAuliffe visits England he will meet him on his arrival and make him fight.

R. S. Fox claims to have lost $70,000 on pugs in eight years. Ryan cost $10,500, Tug Wilson $2,000, Mace and Slade $12,000, Greenfield $4,000 and Kilrain about $30,000.

The directors of the Puritan Athletic Club have taken the first steps towards having the dangerous pivot blow, first introduced by Jimmy Carroll and adopted by LaBlanche, Ed Smith and others, abolished in glove contests. The directors will not allow any boxer to use it in a contest at their club.

KICKERS OF THE BALL.

The new Princeton captain, Jesse B. Riggs, '92, is, like his predecessor, Poe, a Baltimorean.

W. F. McClelland, '92, has been chosen manager of Amherst's foot-ball eleven at a mass meeting of the students.

At a meeting of the Yale foot-ball team Thomas L. McClung, of Knoxville, Tenn., was unanimously chosen captain for the ensuing year.

An English paper has started a foot-ball insurance system. For one penny foot-ball players are insured against fatal accidents for the sum of $500.

The Foot-Ball Association, of Scotland, has been sued for $25,000 by the Renton Club for having declared its members professionals and expelling the club from the Association.

A REGULAR CAMPAIGN.

LIEUT. COL. CORBIN ORDERED TO REPORT AT PINE RIDGE AGENCY.

He is to be Chief of Staff of Gen. Miles, and, with Such an Experienced Soldier in Charge, it Would Seem to Indicate That Future Engagements will Bear the Dignity and Seriousness of War—Gen. Forsythe Relieved of His Command.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Lieut. Col. Corbin, adjutant general of the division of the Missouri, left for Pine Ridge agency at 6 o'clock last evening. He is to be chief of staff of Gen. Miles at the latter's headquarters in the Indian war. The order transferring Col. Corbin to this important position arrived by telegraph yesterday afternoon and within a few hours Col. Corbin was on his way to Pine Ridge agency. The fact that Gen. Miles has determined upon forming a regular staff at the seat of the troubles, with such an experienced soldier as Col. Corbin in charge, would seem to indicate that the Indian fights will no longer bear the character of skirmishes and disconnected engagements, but bear the dignity and seriousness of a war—a regular campaign. The order which made the transfer says that Lieut. Col. Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general, will report in person to the division commander at Pine Ridge agency, S. D., for duty in the field, and this travel is necessary for the public service.

WITHIN A CIRCLE.

A General Closing in on the Indians to be Made and Trouble Likely.

OMAHA, NEB., Jan. 5.—A special from Pine Ridge says there is a circle drawn around the hostile Indians now, it being completed by the departure of Capt. Crossly, of the Seventh cavalry, with four troops for Beaver creek, seven miles away. The circle is drawn to the north and east from there to Col. Henry's command, from thence to Col. Wheaton's, thence to Col. Stanford's, thence to Col. Wills, thence to Col. Offley's, thence to Gen. Carr's, thence to Col. Whitney's, on the Wounded Knee battle ground, and from there back to the agency. By this arrangement the Indians are practically hemmed in. At the principal railway stations along the edge of the reservation state troops are quartered. A general closing in will be made this week and there may be trouble. The line is drawn between the Indians and the Bad Lands.

Gen. Forsythe Relieved of His Command.

OMAHA, NEB., Jan. 5.—A special from Pine Ridge says that yesterday afternoon, in accordance with instructions telegraphed from Washington, Gen. Forsythe was relieved of his command of the Seventh cavalry, pending investigation of the Wounded Knee affair. Maj. Whitesides succeeds to the command of the regiment. Maj. Whitesides says the affair was an accident; that a few moments before the fighting began the squaws were merrily pelting the searching party with bundles of rags. The accepted reason for Gen. Forsythe's relief is the manner in which his troops were placed in the fight.

Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating

Sick Headache

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a faint or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. TO RESUME BUSINESS.

MEMBERS OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE GATHERING AGAIN.

The Senate Caucus will Determine on the Work for the Week—The Fight on the Elections Bill to be Precipitated—Possibility of Trying the Test of Endurance and Long Sessions May be Looked for—The Programme for the House Laid Out.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The senate met at noon to-day to resume the regular business of the session, which has been suspended practically since Wednesday last. The session will not be very long, as it is the desire of the Republican senators to call a caucus during the afternoon to determine on an order of business for the week. When the senate adjourned Wednesday there was pending an appeal, taken by Mr. Morgan from a decision of the chair, that it was not in order for him to move to take up a resolution offered by him some time ago relating to the elections bill. Mr. Morgan had the floor to address the senate indefinitely on the subject of this appeal. When the matter comes before the senate, Mr. Sherman expects to move to lay the appeal on the table, so as to cut off debate on it. It is generally expected that the long delayed fight on the elections bill will be precipitated this week. It is not determined in what form it will come.

The Republican Caucus

this afternoon will outline the programme. A proposition will be made to the caucus to try the test of endurance—to attempt "to sit out" the bill day and night, holding a quorum of Republican senators in the senate chamber and cloak rooms to prevent an adjournment and to be ready to vote on the bill and pass it whenever the Democrats give up through sheer weariness. Opposed to this will be the proposition to change the rules and provide for calling the previous question. In event of the adoption of either of these propositions, it is to be expected that the senate will hold prolonged sessions, for it will be necessary to put through the proposed change in the rules by almost the same tactics as are proposed for passing the bill without it.

The Week in the House.

Many of the members of the house who left Washington before Christmas to spend the holidays elsewhere have returned to the city and it is likely there will be a quorum when the house meets. Under the rules of the house this will be individual suspension day, when members may call up measures for passage under suspension of the rules. From the action of Democratic members last week in endeavoring to have the house adjourn until Tuesday, thus skipping suspension day, it would seem that there will be considerable opposition to the passage of measures called up, and if there is no quorum it is likely no business will be transacted. Mr. Farquhar, of New York, the chairman of the committee on has been assured by the Republican leaders that his committee will be given three days during the week for discussing and voting on the composite marine subsidy bill. Two of these days will be consumed according to the programme in considering the bill in general, and on the third day the provisions of the bill and the amendments offered will be discussed under the five-minute rule. The chairmen of the committees on naval affairs and military affairs respectively will probably make efforts to call up the naval and army appropriation bills, and it is probable also that the committee on appropriations will report the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill to the house. One of the appropriation bills may displace the private bills, to the consideration of which Friday would be devoted under the general rule.

JOINED IN A COLLATION.

The Press Club Reception Extended to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley a Brilliant Affair.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The reception extended by the Press club last night to Henry M. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley was one of the most brilliant events in the history of the organization. Over 200 members with their ladies were present, and for more than an hour the explorer and his beautiful English wife grasped hands, smiled and said "happy to meet you" as the line filed by. The rooms were decorated with American and English flags intertwined and a mandolin orchestra furnished appropriate music. In response to a few remarks of welcome by E. A. Barron, Mr. Stanley delivered a very happy address, characterizing himself as a simple newspaper reporter, who had carried out the task to which he had been assigned to the best of his ability. After the formal greetings the distinguished guests joined the members of the club in a collation served in the main dining hall.

DEATH OF RANDOLPH COYLE.

He Framed the Indictment of Guiteau for the Murder of President Garfield.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Randolph Coyle, assistant United States district attorney, died at his home here yesterday, aged 47 years, of pneumonia. Mr. Coyle framed the indictment of Guiteau for the murder of President Garfield. This indictment has been regarded ever since as a wonderfully complete one and was said to be absolutely without a loophole. It contained a very large number of counts, all worded differently, and alleging the offense in different ways, so as to leave absolutely no loophole for the defense. There was something like a score of counts for the one offense, covering the shooting here and death in New Jersey of the president.

The Monetary Conference.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The international monetary conference has been called to meet at the diplomatic chamber of the department of state at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday next, when Secretary Blaine will deliver an address of welcome. Subsequent meetings of the conference will be held in the parlors of the Arlington hotel.

Horse and Rider in a Well.

MILITIA UNDER ARMS.

The Pay of a Force of Italians Not Being Forthcoming, They Threaten to Kill Officers and Burn the Town.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 5.—A bad riot, which occurred ot Barngat Park Saturday, caused the governor to order the Camden battallion of the New Jersey militia put under arms yesterday. The trouble was so serious at midnight Saturday night that Lieut. Farrow, United States army, fearing the place would be burned, made the requisition for troops. Barngat Park is well known and is the scheme of a number of army officers to build an all-the-year-around resort in the New Jersey pines, the residents to be army and navy officers. There are a number of valuable buildings in the place, such as a commissary house, a bank, a carousal, a hotel, a number of high-priced cottages, stores and a church. A grand boulevard and an electric road is being constructed, and this work has kept a large force of Italians busy for some time, from 75 to 100 men being employed. They have had little or no money for two months and

Were Getting Troublesome.

Ten days ago they struck and a sheriff and posse has been on hand watching them. Their pay was to be forthcoming on Jan. 1, but it did not materialize and the Italians proceeded to work themselves into a frenzy, and threatened to kill Lieut. Farrow and others who were protecting the place. The sheriff and his posse were helpless, being largely outnumbered. The women were removed to the pines for safety, and all the energy and persuasion of the men were used to prevent the infuriated mob from burning the buildings. The sheriffs succeeded by noon yesterday in getting a large posse, who were able to control the situation, and the governor ordered the troops, who were being held in readiness, mustered out of service.

WILL SUFFER BY HIS OWN LAW.

A Man Held by One Brother While Another Shoots Him Dead.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Jan. 5.—Some days ago I. N. Terrill, late member of the lower house from Payne county, came into the land office to make final proof on his quarter section of land in Payne county. G. W. Embree, living four miles from Terrill's claim, introduced evidence which tended to damage Terrill's right as a homesteader. As Embree was leaving the land office Saturday Terrill and his brother met him at the door, drew a revolver, and, while his brother pinioned Embree's arms, Terrill fired five shots, four of which would have produced instant death. Terrill and his brother are now at the United States military camp heavily guarded by troops. The capital punishment clause in the recent criminal code was put through by Terrill in the legislature which has just adjourned, and he will perhaps be the first to test its merits. He was rushed to the military quarters and mob violence prevented.

SEVEN PERSONS BITTEN.

The Greatest Consternation Prevailed Owing to a Mad Dog Running Amuck.

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Jan. 5.—Seven persons were bitten by a mad dog at Belle Center Saturday. The dog belonged to Don Canfield. He was in Belle Center shopping when the dog, a cross between a shepherd and a mongrel, started to run amuck, foaming at the mouth and snapping at every one who chanced to be in his way. The greatest consternation prevailed and people rushed for their homes in abject terror. Those bitten are Frank Wright, Pearl Lysle, a little girl, clothing almost torn from her body and badly mangled; Charles Wagner, Bertha McLean and three others. The dog attacked Os Lysle, who lost his leg in the army, viciously sinking his teeth deep into the artificial limb. The infuriated animal was finally shot by the marshal, but not until he had bitten a number of other dogs. The people are shooting all the dogs in the town or country found at large. A number of the sufferers will be sent away for treatment.

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE

Will Assemble and Recess Until After the Burial of Senator Robertson.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—So far as can be learned there were only three members of the legislature here last night. The influx will occur to-day. It is likely that after the assembling Tuesday afternoon the legislature will recess until after the funeral of Senator Robertson, of Sidney, on Wednesday afternoon. The house calendar shows nearly fifty bills up for second reading Tuesday, and nearly sixty for third reading, besides several special orders.

To Revoke a Railroad's Charter.

CANTON, O., Jan. 5.—Application was made in common pleas court room Saturday to revoke the charter of the Cleveland and Canton railroad. The grounds given were that the company had not completed the line to Alaynesburg, and had been discriminating against certain coal companies by refusing to construct switches to their mines.

Like a Quiet Game Themselves.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—The Franklin county board of school examiners rendered its verdict Saturday afternoon in the case of W. K. Latham, a teacher at Green hill, charged with playing cards on Sunday. The board reprimanded the teacher, but decided that his indiscretion was not of sufficient magnitude to warrant it in revoking his certificate.

Senator A. J. Robertson Passes Away.

SIDNEY, O., Jan. 5.—State Senator A. J. Robertson, of the Twelfth district, died Saturday of cerebral hemorrhage. He had been sick two weeks. He was born in Preble county in 1825; was elected in 1887 and re-elected in 1889 to the state senate. He leaves six children.

CONDENSED OHIO NEWS.

Governor Campbell Saturday evening issued a requisition upon the governor of Indiana for Mervin Kuhns, the notorious outlaw now confined in jail at Ft. Wayne, and wanted at Fostoria for murder.

Mrs. Montgomery, of Lagonda, created a whirlwind of sensation by getting on a big drunk and chasing her two little girls out of the house with a carving knife, because they would not drink beer. She finally managed to force some of the liquid down the youngest's throat.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

THE CONDITION OF POVERTY PREVAILING IN THE WEST OF IRELAND.

If No Aid Reaches the People the Situation will Develop Into Acute Distress—No Charitable Organizations to Minister to the Wants of the Helpless—The Question is, How Should the Money be Given?—Affected Districts All Have Some Means of Livelihood.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The Earl of Zetland, viceroy of Ireland, and Mr. Balfour, the chief secretary, have signed a declaration as to the condition of poverty prevailing in the west of Ireland. They describe this condition as chronic in some districts and state that if no aid reaches the people the situation will develop into acute distress during the winter and spring. The declaration lays some stress upon the fact that there is no resident gentry or substantial middle class in the section referred to, through whom employment can naturally be afforded. There are also no charitable organizations to minister to the wants of those unable to help themselves. The question is not whether money or other aid should be given, but how it should be given, to what class and for what special purposes. The signers further dwell upon the

as to the character of the distributive agencies, in order that the relief may be properly given and not indiscriminately. To bestow help recklessly may infect whole townships with the vices and weaknesses of professional mendicancy. In regard to the failure of the potato crop, the declaration states that the small occupiers in the west of Ireland seem at first sight to all live in much the same way. They are all lodged in the same class of cabins. All the affected districts possess some means of livehood other than the raising of potatoes.

MANY POSTAL CLERKS DISCHARGED.

The Employes of the London Office Dismissed for Disobedience.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A sensation was caused in postoffice circles here Saturday by a wholesale suspension of clerks. Over 200 clerks employed in the Postoffice Savings bank were suspended from duty because they disobeyed the order of the secretary of the bank to remain on duty two hours over the usual time. The places of the suspended clerks were promptly filled by new men.

To Express Sympathy and Raise Funds.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—There were numerous meetings throughout Great Britain yesterday to express sympathy for the Scotch railway strikers and raise funds for their benefit. The contributions were on quite a generous scale. In London thousands of men marched, with bands and banners, through the streets to the hall where the meeting was held. Michael Davitt presided over the meeting, which was addressed by John Burns and other friends of the laboring men.

Parnell Spent the Day at Avondale.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—Mr. Parneli and his sister. Mrs. Dickinson, came from Avondale yesterday afternoon and spent part of the evening at the Marine Hotel, Dublin, leaving last night from Kingston for London. Timothy Harrington follows, and on Tuesday Mr. Parnell and Mr. Harrington start for Boulogne, where John Redmond and Mr. Clancy await them. Mr. Parnell has placed himself in the hands of his friends and will be guided by the consensus of their advice.

A WOMAN'S SIGHT RESTORED.

On Realizing Her Position She Fell Upon Her Father's Neck, Sobbing Bitterly and Began to Shout and Praise God.

ANDERSON, IND., Jan. 5.—The meetings of Mrs. Woodworth, the trance evangelist, still continue at the Church of God, in this city. The excitement has reached fever heat. One of the most remarkable cures effected under her ministrations is that of Mollie Bowers, who lives near Alexandria. Twelve years ago, when quite young, she was attacked with measles and the disease left her blind in one eye and the sight of the other much impaired. She has been treated by various eye specialists, but without success. Saturday she and her father, a farmer, drove to Anderson to attend the meeting. Miss Bowers and telling Mrs. Woodworth of her ailment, implored her to join with her in prayer to have her eyesight restored. A pretty scene ensued. The young lady, clinging upon the rostrum, pleaded that her eyesight be restored. Mrs. Woodworth laid her hands across the young lady's eyes, quoting a passage of Scripture, and commanded her to rise. She did so and saw. For a few moments she stood bewildered, and finally, realizing that her eyesight had been fully restored, she turned to her father and fell upon his neck, sobbing bitterly. Then she began to shout and praise God for the wonderful cure He had made.

Went to the Altar,

Several Tests Were Made to see whether the cure was complete, such as distinguishing colors, reading fine print and so on, all of which were successful and show conclusively that the cure was real. Two reputable citizens declare that Mrs. Woodworth has cured them of chronic deafness. William Span, of Fortville, was made to walk Saturday night, something he has not done for years, by reason of a leg crushed in an accident several years ago.

A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Result of a State Senatorial Election in West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. VA., Jan. 5.—The election in this senatorial district Saturday, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator B. J. Smith, Republican, resulted in the choice of Stewart, Democrat, who has a majority of nearly 1,000 as compared with the vote of two years ago. The election shows a Democratic gain of 1,700 in a vote of 11,000.

Owing to Senator Hoar's Absence.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Owing to the absence of Senator Hoar, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, nothing has yet been done in the matter of the three senators from Idaho, and until the committee makes some report Mr. McConnell cannot be sworn in.

WILL LEAD IN PERSON.

Senator Gorman to Conduct the Democratic Forces of Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 5.—Senator Gorman will conduct the Democratic forces in this state next fall in person. The legislature to be chosen will elect his successor to the United States senate, and the senator feels assured that, with proper management, he can roll up an unprecedented Democratic majority. He feels reasonably sure that the legislature will elect him to succeed himself, for he is to-day the most popular Democrat in the state. Hon. Barnes Compton, the present chairman of the Democratic state central committee, it is today announced, will resign that place in March, and the programme as now outlined is that Senator Gorman will take his place. The Republicans appear to be wholly disorganized, owing to local dissentions, and it is doubtful whether they can be brought into line in time to make a fight. The Democrats, on the contrary, are united, even the independents who made the fight for reform two years ago being absorbed by the regular wings.

WILL BECOME A COUNTESS.

A Coming Wedding which Will be a Brilliant Affair.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The arrangements for the marriage of Miss Florence Audenried and Count de Vonne are complete. The wedding will be solemnized with high nuptial mass at St. Matthews' church at 11 a. m. on Wednesday, the 14th inst. Archbishop Corrigan, godfather of the bride, will perform the ceremony, which will be followed by a wedding breakfast that will be attended by the president, members of the cabinet and diplomatic corps, with a limited number of personal friends. Secretary Blaine, as the head of the diplomatic corps, has consented to give the bride away. The Count and Countess de Vonne expect to leave the same afternoon for New York, whence they will sail for Paris on Saturday, the 17th instant. As Count de Vonne is at present awaiting promotion, he hopes to be appointed to the home office, in which case the young couple will spend the winter in Paris and leave early in the spring for their chateau on Lake Geneva.

DREAD DIPHTHERIA'S DOINGS.

An Entire Family of Nine Persons in Iowa Wiped Out.

MARSHALLTOWN, IA., Jan. 5.—A terrible story of diphtheria comes from the southern part of Buchanan county. Mrs. Edgerton died in November of diphtheria, leaving a family of eight children destitute. A young baby and five other children rapidly succumbed to the deadly scourge, and Wednesday the eighth burial casket was sent out to the desolated home, where the one remaining member is now lying at the point of death. No other case is reported in the community.

MARRIED AN INDIAN.

The Strange Disappearance of a Girl Explained at Last.

OKLAHOMA, OKLA., Jan. 5.—It has just been found out that Ida Arnold, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold, in Mattoon, Ills., sixteen years ago, has not committed suicide, as was supposed, but went to the Indian territory and taught school for the government for several years under the name of Ida Buckley. She married an Indian named Paul Pulaski, and is living with him thirty miles from Oklahoma. Pulaski is a good Indian and owns 1,000 acres of fine land.

Dempsey in the Pink of Condition.

GALVESTON, TEX., Jan. 5. — Jack Dempsey showed up at the Upham-Pitzlin fight, at which he seconded the former in splendid form, on Friday night, and it is generally conceded that this man's signal victory was due to the nonpariels excellent coaching. Dempsey is already inside the 154 pound's limit and is as supple as a cat. Under the direction of Tom Maher and Mike Conley he is getting into the pink of condition. He is now undergoing the hardening process and exercising to increase his wind. Every morning he is out on the beach playing ball. In the afternoon he punches the bag, swings dumb bells, boxes and indulges in other athletics.

Changes of Union Pacific Management.

OMAHA, NEB., Jan. 5.—The resignation of General Manager Meek, of the Denver and Ft. Worth division of the Union Pacific road, was officially announced here Saturday. It is understood that the general managers of the other four divisions of the road will be asked to follow Mr. Meek's example. There is to be but one general manager of the entire system and the divisions will be placed in the hands of general superintendents.

LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Alice Shaw, the American whistler, has met with brilliant success in her concerts in St. Petersburg.

Amos Hilborn & Co., manufacturers and importers of furniture, 1027 Market street, Philadelphia, made an assignment Saturday to Alfred Moore, attorney. The liabilities will be large.

An explosion of firedamp occurred Saturday in the Trinity pit near Ostra. Fifteen bodies have been taken out of the pit and twenty-four men are missing and are supposed to have perished.

The Scottish railway strike is as far from settlement as ever. The large majority of the strikers are holding out, and the few hands induced to take their places show such inefficiency that the public are afraid to travel.

According to the report of Baggage Agent C. S. Jenkins, of the Union station, Pittsburg, there were handled during the year 1890, 777,700 pieces of baggage. Of this number 385,543 pieces were received, and 92,157 pieces were forwarded.

Two shocks of earthquake were felt at Elwood, Ind., Saturday. The first, lasting thirty seconds, occurred at 4 p. m. The second followed immediately, fifteen seconds. The oscillation came from the west to the east. No damage was done.

Weather Forecast.

For Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia: Generally fair during Monday, except light local snow at lake stations; slightly warmer; variable winds.

Blaine Entertains Harrison

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5. — Secretary Blaine entertained the president and a number of prominent officials at dinner at his residence Saturday night.

WHAT SNOW CAN DO.

The Receiver of an Iron Blast, Filled with Molten Metal, Explodes and Fifty Workmen Have Miraculous Escapes.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The receiver of an iron blast, filled with molten metal, exploded shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the foundry of Farnum & Richardson, at Roby and Blue Island avenues. Fifty workmen had narrow escapes. Three were injured, one of them possibly fatally. The injured are:

Frank Rankizsky, a Pole, dangerously and possibly fatally burned about the face, neck and shoulders.

Edward Zecker, badly burned on the head.

Martin Matner, a German, burned on the head and shoulder.

Cause of the Explosion.

The explosion was caused by the accidental dropping of some snow into the furnace by an employe, who was cleaning the roof, causing a fearful explosion. The liquid iron was scattered over most of the foundry room and it immediately set fire to the wooden frame work. The three injured men were the only ones working near the furnace at the time of the explosion, and the fact that many more were not injured was due to the fact that most of the other employes were preparing blasts in other portions of the room. The flames were soon extinguished.

A FATED DRIVING PARTY.

Their Team Struck by a Train, and All Are Killed or Injured.

NORTHAMPTON, MASS., Jan. 5.—A Central Massachusetts train at Hadley, at 5:30 Saturday night, struck a team containing six young people on the crossing, and instantly killed Henry, son of Dr. J. P. Learned, and Mabel P., daughter of Rev. Frederick M. Hinckley. Both horses were killed. The other occupants of the sleigh were a son of J. D. Bond, Edward Bond, Fanny Plimpton and Lulu Adams, all of whom were injured, Miss Adams' injuries being the most severe. The flesh was torn from her face and one eye was injured. Edward Bond's leg was bruised. Henry Learned, who was killed, was a student at the agricultural college, and Miss Hinckley was a member of the Capen school for girls. The bodies were brought to this city on the train, and Judge Bond happened to be at the depot when they arrived.

MISHAPS IN A MINE.

Father and Son Buried Beneath a Fall of Slate and Three Other Men Injured.

BRAZIL, IND., Jan. 5.—A heavy fall of slate in Diamond mine, at Coalbluff, Saturday, buried Henry and Joe McMahon, father and son, and badly injured William Lawhorn and B. Morgan. The first was perhaps fatally crushed. In the same mine Dan Piper caught his hand under the bolts of an ascending cage and was hoisted to the top, a distance of ninety feet. He had to be lowered to the bottom before being released.

FAILED TO CONNECT.

A Trapeze Performer Attempts a Leap for Life and Goes Down.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—Kittie Herbert, aged 21 years, a trapeze performer, doing the Mexican ladder act at a theatre here, met with a horrible accident Saturday evening. While balancing herself on a ladder, she attempted to spring forward into the arms of her assistant, Ed Carr. She missed her hold and fell to the floor, a distance of twenty feet, striking on her hands and feet. Both wrists were broken badly and she received other painful injuries. She was removed to her hotel and given medical attendance. The unfortunate woman is the wife of a conductor on the Hocking Valley and Toledo railroad.

VERDICT AGAINST THE B. & O.

The Killing of the Two Men Who Fell Through the Wheeling Platform.

WHEELING, W. VA., Jan. 5.—The coroner's jury in the case of Thomas Lewis and Richard Knight, the young Wheeling business man, and the Cleveland drummer, who were killed within two hours of each other by falling through an opening in the Baltimore and Ohio depot building, returned a verdict Saturday of criminal carelessness on the part of the road.

EMMA ABBOTT SOME BETTER.

She Has Rallied Somewhat and There Are Hopes of Her Recovery.

SALT LAKE, UTAH, Jan. 5.—At 3 o'clock yesterday Emma Abbott was supposed to be dying and the members of her company were called in to bid her farewell, but the physicians gave her some whisky and milk and she rallied and at midnight was reported as being a little better and there are hopes for her recovery.

FASHIONS OF THE DAY.

DESCRIPTION OF A PARTY AND THEATRE DRESS.

How a Young Lady May Conceal an Undue Length of Neck—Exquisite Material for Young Ladies' Dresses—Some Bonnets That Will Be Sure to Please.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—The black velvet bow fastened at the neck of this young lady's theatre and party gown is placed there partly as an ornament and partly to accentuate the delicate whiteness of the young wearer's neck. It is too long and slim anyhow, and to hide that defect a choker of pink crepe lisse tied with another velvet bow is worn. The gown is of pale pink crepe de Chine, with nothing very special to remark about it only the pretty lace stomacher and the graceful draping of the bertha. This is edged with a ruching of pink crepe lisse. The sleeves are puffed high on the shoulder, and have also a ruffle of the same delicate material, and a captivating little bow is set on the head with a tiny humming bird, with a heron plume. The skirt is made full, and has two rows of rose plaiting of crepe lisse across the bottom. The gloves are of pink dressed kid. A velvet ribbon encircles the waist, and is tied in a bow with short ends in the back.

I saw another very dainty dress made of delicate blue cheese cloth, trimmed with festoons of white tulle held up with tiny bunches of pale pink multiflora roses. This cheese cloth is worn very much for informal dancing dresses. It is trimmed sometimes with bands of feathers in evening shades, and sometimes with ruffles of lace. Rows of ribbon laid on straight are often seen as trimming, and in several very pretty gowns of this material shown in one of the largest and most fashionable stores I noticed that all the way around the skirts were two or three rows about an inch and a half wide of drawn work. The cross threads are pulled out and the loose part is sewn into pretty devices, after the style of work done by the Mexican women. To these the waists are very simple, being gathered at the belt with a bertha of lace or crepe lisse or chiffon, which drapes in a very graceful way.

There is an exquisite material for dresses for young ladies particularly suitable for the gay season, and that is the silk or muslin chiffon in light colors. It is not dear, does not easily muss and is quite strong, so that a dress made of it, with changes of ribbons and other little accessories, will last through a whole season of dances and other social occasions if need be, and still look pretty.

A very pretty fancy is to have a belt with as many narrow ribbons fastened to it as it will hold, and fasten this around the waist, leaving these to fall loosely to the foot of the dress. Some fasten them with little fancy pins with imitation jewel heads about ten inches from the bottom. But they look very pretty when floating about like the tentacles of a catfish, if that is what they call those long wriggly things around their mouths.

Some new bonnets and hats are worth a place in this fashion letter, and here they are. That one without a head was, so the truthful milliner told me, imported direct for Mrs. Cleveland. It is of a dark purple velvet, so dark that it is almost black in some lights, and is trimmed with a passementerie of gold. The front is built up high with velvet and gold colored plumes. It is a superb bonnet, but not flashy by any means.

The pretty hat at the bottom of this picture represents one also "imported" by this truthful milliner for Miss Grace Wilson, the lovely sister of Mrs. Ogden Goelet. It is of smoke colored felt, trimmed with a close velvet panache of velvet four shades darker at the back, and with a dove's head and breast and four wings, all in those soft shades. The hat next above is of dark gray velvet and corn colored plumes. The elegant close bonnet at the top is of two shades of blue velvet and silver galloon, with pale pink and blue plumes. It is for theatre or reception.

OLIVE HARPER.

THE MAN WHO MIGHT.

Something About an Author "Capable of Writing the Great American Novel."

In a recent interview W. D. Howells is reported as saying that "Ed Howe, of Atchison, Kan., is capable of writing the great American novel, but he is too lazy."

E. W. HOWE.

Probably but few of those who saw the interview know who "Ed Howe, of Atchison, Kan.," is. He first attracted attention in 1884 as the author of a novel, "The Story of a Country Town." The tale was printed in the office of The Atchison Daily Globe, Mr. Howe's newspaper. Mr. Howells found the book and reviewed it in The Century, pronouncing it the best "first book" of the year. "The Story of a Country Town" ran through five editions, and was followed by "The Mystery of the Locks," "A Moonlight Boy" and "A Man Story." These have met with but moderate success.

E. W. Howe, now 33 years of age, is not educated, in the generally accepted sense of the word. A friend who worked with him many years once remarked: "I don't believe he ever looked inside a grammar, and I am sure he could not parse a sentence to save his life. In his composition he goes altogether by sound; if a sentence doesn't 'sound' right he writes and rewrites it until it does. He knows little of general history and geography, and I do not believe he ever got further than decimals in his arithmetic. His reading is confined to newspapers and periodicals and current literature, and he has been called a writer of books who never reads books." Yet Mark Twain wrote him, "Your style is so simple and so direct, and yet at the same time so strong, that I think it must have been born to you—not made."

Mr. Howells' charge of laziness is not well established, for Mr. Howe is a very hard worker. His hours on The Atchison Daily Globe are from 8 in the morning until 6 at night, and he furnishes five columns of "copy" every day. He has a new book in press which he calls "An Ante-Mortem Statement." It is a short story, and is said to be a sort of Americanized "Kreutzer Sonata" revised, fumigated and disinfected for center table use.

THE NEW SUPREME COURT JUSTICE.

He Has Been a Lawyer and Judge of Good Repute for Years.

Henry Billings Brown, recently nominated by President Harrison to fill the vacancy on the supreme bench of the United States caused by the death of Justice Miller, is a resident of Michigan and judge of the circuit court for the eastern district of that state. He has lived nearly all his life at Detroit, and has been a lawyer since he graduated from Yale in 1856. He was born at Lee, Mass., in 1836. He married in 1860 the daughter of the late Samuel Pitts, of Detroit, but has no children.

Judge Brown is noted as a pedestrian and horseback rider, as well as for the soundness of his legal decisions. He has hosts of friends, who are rejoiced at his promotion, and who declare that the president "couldn't have done better."

Two "Professions" That Pay.

A discussion relative to the choice of a profession has been carried on of late in the columns of the London newspapers. One of the town's big weeklies suggests that two of the most important "professions" have been overlooked—those of jockey and "strong man"—and goes on to say that "cases now exist where a jockey received a salary equal to that of a secretary of state, and jockeys even of the second rank receive payments which place them in a position, from a financial point of view, considerably ahead of the bulk of their employers. Besides these salaries (or retainers, as they are called) the jockeys receive the authorized and regular riding fees, and it is no exaggeration to say that at the present moment at least half a dozen of them are earning, in connection with their riding, in shape of retainers, riding fees and presents, £5,000 a year apiece, and in one or two cases even more. With reference to the earnings of 'strong men,' Sandow is reported to have said, in connection with a contest in which he took part, that by his defeat he lost more than £4,000, the savings of only two years."

Solved the Servant Girl Problem.

The Society of Berlin Housekeepers recently celebrated its eighteenth anniversary and distributed rewards to faithful maid servants. The first prize went to a cook who had served Frau von Bismarck for forty years; Helene Kroner, who has been thirty-six years with one family, got the second prize, and the third went to Johanna Pohl, who has a record of thirty-five years as a scrub woman. The society is said to have solved the servant girl problem in Germany.

New Uses for Milk and Flour.

An insurance man of long experience declares that milk is the best obtainable extinguisher for a petroleum fire. If milk is not at hand flour will answer nearly as well for putting out the flames.

FAMOUS DOLL DRESSERS.

DISTINGUISHED WOMEN OF AMERICA AND ENGLAND DO NOVEL WORK.

They Unite to Further the Interests of a Charitable Enterprise, and Have Brought Joy to the Hearts of Thousands of Little Girls.

IT IS in her doll that the little girl finds her dearest delight and chiefest joy. She may be the daughter of wealthy parents, surrounded by the luxuries of civilization, or the ignorant and neglected offspring of the veriest savage. But whether the object of tenderest affection or of cruelty and negligence; whether clothed in silks and carefully guarded from every ill, or clad in skins and subjected to all the vagaries of the elements, the girl child seems endowed by nature with the maternal instinct, and lavishes a wealth of affection upon her doll. In the first instance, the doll may be a wonderful creation of mechanism and ingenuity, crowned with real hair, endowed with eyes that open and shut, possessed even of ability to talk, and garbed in robes as gay as those which adorn the form of a fashionable matron. In the other, the doll may be merely a gnarled stick or worthless bone, which its little owner has tricked out with leaves, bits of bark or cloth, and to which she is as much devoted as if it were the most gorgeous production of a Parisian dealer. Savage or civilized, sick or well, the tiny maiden adores and cares for her silent companion with a solicitude equal to that which in later years she may be expected to lavish upon an equally helpless but far more vociferous infant.

Recognizing the universality of this maternal instinct, and the important part which it plays in child life, two well known gentlemen of New York city, Messrs. Russell B. Harrison and W. J. Arkell, some time ago originated an enterprise which was destined to gladden the hearts of thousands of little girls confined by sickness, misfortune or orphanage to the various hospitals and institutions situated on or near Manhattan island. They projected and carried to successful issue, with the aid of Mr. A. B. De Frece, a charity doll show, the like of which was never before seen. They procured a vast number of dolls, and then called upon the distinguished women of America and England to dress them.

DRESSED BY ELLEN TERRY.

The response was worthy of the occasion, and within a few weeks the unattired forms came back, clothed in quaint and costly robes. One china divinity had grown immensely in good looks because of the deft care bestowed upon its wardrobe by the wife of President Harrison. Another had blossomed into a society beauty beneath the skillful manipulation of Mrs. Levi P. Morton. "Little Jay" came from Mrs. George Gould. It was the counterfeit presentment of her baby boy, so far as size and clothes were concerned, the latter being duplicated even to the tiny, undressed leather leggings. Mrs. Grover Cleveland sent a doll as big as a 5-year-old child, which wore a ball gown of white satin, brocaded in rosebuds, and trimmed with white empire frills around the decollete corsage.

From London Ellen Terry, the famous actress, forwarded a doll notable for the simple elegance of its attire, and among other prominent patrons of the good work were Mrs. Madge Kendal, Count Guaccimanni, Lillian Russell, Mrs. Wymess, Mrs. E. G. Gilmore, Kate Claxton, Mrs. Alex Taylor, Isabel Evesson, Sadie Martinot, Mrs. John Gilbert, Mrs. Eugene Clarke, Mrs. Arkell, Mrs. Alfred Thompson and "Bab," who is better known to the world at large by this nom de plume than by her own name of Mrs. Isabel A. Mallon.

The great collection having been made, the display followed. Large apartments on two floors of The Judge building were devoted to the needs of the show, which closed at the end of six days with an auction of the most costly contributions. The ladies had done their share to make the undertaking a success, and the hour had arrived for men of prominence to distinguish themselves.

Among the volunteer auctioneers were

LATE LOCAL NEWS.

Death of Mrs. Griswold.

Mrs. Frances Griswold, widow of Al. Griswold, the car inspector of the C., L. & W. road who was killed at Seville about two years and a half ago, died from consumption at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. She had been confined to her bed for several months and death was not unexpected. The deceased was an estimable woman and was greatly favored since her husband's death by appreciative neighbors and others, who were mainly instrumental in keeping the family of six young children—the oldest being a boy of 14 years—from actual want. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence in Summit street.

Corporation Elections

The stockholders of the Merchants National bank elected officers as follows, this morning: President, J. W. McClymonds; vice president, S. A. Conrad; cashier, Wm. F. Ricks; assistant cashier, I. M. Taggart; directors, N. S. Russell, S. A. Conrad, J. W. McClymonds, F. H. Snyder, G. L. Albrecht, Peter Sailer, H. C. Dielhenn, Wm. F Ricks, Z. T. Baltzly.

At Russell & Co.'s annual election today, no changes were made in the directory, the old officers also being re-elected, as follows: President and treasurer, J. W. McClymonds; vice-president, J. K. Russell; secretary, C. M. Russell; superintendents, Thos. H. and George S. Russell.

A Calf that is a Calf.

PIGEON RUN, O., Jan. 3, 1891

MR. EDITOR:—As it is a little late in the season for fish stories, I will give you a calf story, but a true one. Anyone doubting the facts is at liberty to come and measure and weigh for himself, and have a dinner thrown in. I have a short horn heifer that dropped a heifer calf on New Year's morning, and when two hours old, and before it had taken any nourishment, measured and weighed as follows: Height, 2 ft. 9 in.; length, 3 ft. 7 in; girth, 3 ft.; width across hips, 10 in; weight, 113 pounds. Now who can beat it? Respectfully,

F. F. MAXHIMER.

Wreck on the "Huckleberry."

A small wreck occurred late Saturday afternoon on the Massillon & Cleveland road near Millport. Four gondolas loaded with sand were derailed by the breaking of a frog, due to frost. No one was injured, but Arthur O'Toole was compelled to walk back on the track several miles. The wreck train from Alliance came up yesterday and replaced the cars on the track, no damage being done. In this connection the management of the road, irreverently spoken of as the "Huckleberry," desires the statement given publicity that passenger traffic was not interfered with on this trunk line on account of the wreck.

The Secular Union.

Owing the absence of the secretary a regular meeting of the Secular Union was not held yesterday. An important, but very pleasant conversation arose among the nearly a dozen persons present, regarding the secular and religious questions of the day. It was suggested that the meetings be held once in two weeks, instead of weekly, as at present, and that lecturers be engaged and essays be read.

News from Castle Kessler.

W. C. Hoffman, the Railroad street saloon-keeper, has disposed of his business to his former neighbor and well known citizen, Mr. Albright Kessler. Mr. Hoffman will engage in the wholesale liquor business. It is reported, in this connection, that David Miller, who owns the property now occupied by Mr. Kessler, as well as the one adjoining it on the east, will soon replace the latter with a substantial brick building.

The "Y" conference for Northeastern Ohio will convene at Massillon about April 1st, and will be attended by 100 delegates. This will be the second conference held by this association.

Doings of the Churches.

The week of prayer is being observed at the First M. E. Church.

Services every evening this week, except Saturday evening at the U. B. church. Come.

Special mission service to-morrow, on Epiphany, in St. John's Evangelical Protestant church, at 10:30 a. m. in German, and at 7 p. m. in German and English. The Rev. F. Buesser, of Mansfield, the Rev. A. Mallick, of Wooster; the Langhorss, of Liverpool, Medina county, and the Rev. W. C. Schaefer, of Allepheny, Pa., are expected to be here to take part.

Quite an interesting meeting was held at St. Paul's Luthern church yesterday after the German services. The pastor was requested to leave the church for a few moments and was informed after his return that his salary had been raised another $100. It was a great surprise to the young pastor, and in a few well-chosen words he thanked his members for their great kindness shown in so many ways. The following are the present officers of St. Paul's: Elders, Harmon Schreiver, Jacob Snyder, sr.; deacons, Ben Lantzer, Jacob F. Snyder, John Snyder; trustees, John Bous, George Snyder, Fred W. Albrecht; treasurer, F. H. Snyder; secretary, Ed Gleitsman; school directors, Herman Weller, Christ. Shearer, George J. Snyder; German ushers, Wm. Wenzel, Adolph Weise; English ushers, Will Zepp, John Hunter; book agent, Christ. Snyder; janitor, Ed Gleitsman, jr. The congregation during the past year raised for expenses and benevolent purposes, $3,004.43.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to extend my heartfelt thanks to all kind friends for their sympathy and attention during the illness and funeral services of my wife.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Pat's New Wardrobe."

A packed house greeted Pat Rooney Monday night, and nearly 500 people were turned away from the door unable to obtain admission. The new play in which Rooney appeared was "Pat's New Wardrobe," a rollicking comedy, and a good one of its class. Pat Rooney is the old original Pat, and to every and who has seen him he needs no commendation. The balance of the cast is very well made up. The Quaker City quartette is with him.—Ex

Special Announcement.

One of the funniest of musical farce comedies on the road will be seen here at Bucher's next Monday night. This is a new play and a new company, and it comes here on short notice. The people of Massillon need have no fear, however, about its good qualities, as it will play a return engagement, which it surely could not do if not as good as represented. A superior company of comedians and specialties, sweet singers, graceful dances, and a wonderful child artiste. The famous Oriole quartette in entirely new songs, medleys and choruses, written especially for them. Nothing introduced but legitimate high class comedy. Don't fail to see it. Prices 75, 50 and 25 cents. Coming Monday, Jan. 5.

The tobacco dealers are getting a rebate of two cents per pound on all stock on hand over 250 pounds. D. W. Bullock after invoicing his stock, finds there is due him nearly $75, having on hand more than 3,000 pounds of the weed, more than a ton of which is plug. Many small dealers are adding to their stock in order to get the benefit of the rebate.—Alliance Leader.

Wagg—I see you are advertising a fine line of walking gloves. I should like to see them.

Haberdasher—Yes, sir; here they are, as fine a line of walking gloves as ever came into the market.

Wagg—Yes, the gloves look all right; but what I want is to see them walk.

Haberdasher—See here, young fellow, if you want to see those gloves walk you can do it for a dollar and fifty cents a pair, and if you haven't got the price the best thing you can see walk around here is yourself.—Boston Courier.

Just the Opposite.

The Sound of It.

The young man down in the parlor had been talking and talking and talking and the old man upstairs was becoming venomous. At last he went out into the hall.

"Mary," he called to his daughter, "isn't it about time to turn off the gas?"

"Why, papa," she replied tenderly, "Henry and I have had it turned off for two hours."

"Well, it didn't sound like it," he growled, and went back to his den.—Washington Star.

BROKER LOVELL MISSING.

He is Said to be Somewhere Abroad and is Shunning Arrest.

BOSTON, Jan. 5.—W. D. Lovell, of the Potter-Lovell company, note brokers, has been missing for three weeks. While it is admitted by his counsel, W. F. Dickinson, Jr., that he went away on legitimate business, it is also conceded that as so many victims of the late failure have resorted to criminal proceedings, the absent broker has stayed away to avoid arrest. Rather than live in the Charles street jail for an indefinite period, he has, it is said, preferred to remain abroad. Where he is nobody seems to know.

THE LYMPH'S GOOD WORK.

Several Patients in New York Hospitals Are Pronounced Cured.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Several patients with lupus, who have been inoculated with lymph in the German hospital, are to be discharged as cured this week, and at Mt. Sinai hospital and Bellevue hospital there are lupus patients who are walking around the wards impatiently awaiting the day when they will be pronounced cured. Whether the cure will be permanent or not, only time will show.

The sporting editor had been gazing dreamily into space. He did this from force of habit—because he wrote on space. Suddenly his eye fell on the religious editor. That worthy reeled under the shock a moment, and then returned the other's glance. The sporting editor took the glance, hid it away in a safe place, and remarked:

"Your daughter was married a little while ago, wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"And you were present at the wedding?"

"Certainly. I gave her away."

AN OVERDOSE.

Death of a Man Who Received a Medal from President Lincoln.

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 5.—Capt. Russell Bethel, ex-sheriff of this county, died from an overdose of chloral. He had been ailing several days, and Friday night before retiring took a dose of the medicine. Saturday when his wife awoke he was dead. He enlisted at the age of 18 years in the Seventy-eighth Ohio, and served four years with distinction, being promoted from private to captain. He also received a medal from President Lincoln for defeating two rebels in a hand to hand fight. He was a brother of State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bethel.

Cheyennes at War and Crows Jubilant.

HELENA, MON., Jan. 5.—Maj. Veite with the First cavalry arrived at Miles City yesterday with troop D, sixty Crow scouts and full camp equipage. They proceed to-day, with three companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry, for Powderville to join Maj. Arnold. A special says there was music in the air Saturday night. The Crow Indians are visiting the Cheyenne camp near the fort and are singing and dancing. The Cheyennes have gone to war and the Crows are jubilant over the prospect of killing off the Sioux, who are their mortal enemies.

Tried and True

Is the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. For a good blood purifier take Hoo'ds Sarsaparilla

If Your House is On Fire

You put water on the buring timbers, not on the smoke. And you have catarrah you should attack the disease in blood, not in your nose. Remove the impure cause, and the local effect subsides. To do this, take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, which radically and permanently cures catarrh. It also strengthens the nerves. Be sure to get only Hood's Sarsaparilla.
